MEN'S Relational Health Group

Contact Group Facilitator for Group Day and Times

This is a guided men's bi-weekly group program offering help with relational intimacy disruptions that include sex, love, pornography attachment, compulsion, & addiction.

This group will be made of a small group of men committed to long term change in their relational lives. Each member will be part of building and sustaining and interactive group container based on confidentiality, honesty, & respectful communication.

This group will follow a relational recovery path model based on "task centered" treatment developed by Dr. Patrick Carnes along with other thinkers, theories, & practices in the field. Each participant will have opportunity to explore what is relevant and challenging in their recovery path along with selected recovery topics and themes being introduced and explored continuously in the group.

Cost is $50.00/session, plus tax. Paid in 6 session units.
